Sinews Of Survival The Living Legacy Of Inuit Clothing:

Sinews of Survival Betty Kobayashi Issenman, 2011-11-01 Betty Issenman examines all aspects of winter and summer Inuit clothing going back 4000 years with particular emphasis on northern Canadian Inuit She also describes the kinds of material and tools used to make the clothing The focus is on Inuit clothing as protection identity and culture bearer roles it has played for thousands of years No other book brings together contemporary and historical material from the circumpolar worlds with original research Sinews of Survival is a fascinating study of Inuit clothing past and present It includes over 200 illustrations of various kinds of clothing The voices of the Inuit are heard throughout the text in quotations from consultations and the literature By describing one component of Inuit society the author opens a pathway to understanding the culture as a whole

An Annotated Bibliography of Inuit Art Richard C. Crandall, Susan M. Crandall, 2015-07-25 Archaeological digs have turned up sculptures in Inuit lands that are thousands of years old but Inuit art as it is known today only dates back to the beginning of the 1900s Early art was traditionally produced from soft materials such as whalebone and tools and objects were also fashioned out of stone bone and ivory because these materials were readily available The Inuit people are known not just for their sculpture but for their graphic art as well the most prominent forms being lithographs and stonecuts This work affords easy access to information to those interested in any type of Inuit art There are annotated entries on over 3 761 articles books catalogues government documents and other publications

Making and Growing Elizabeth Hallam, Tim Ingold, 2016-05-13 Making and Growing brings together the latest work in the fields of anthropology and material culture studies to explore the differences and the relation between making things and growing things and between things that are made and things that grow Though the former are often regarded as artefacts and the latter as organisms the book calls this distinction into question examining the implications for our understanding of materials design and creativity Grounding their arguments in case studies from different regions and historical periods the contributors to this volume show how making and growing give rise to co produced and mutually modifying organisms and artefacts including human persons They attend to the properties of materials and to the forms of knowledge and sensory experience involved in these processes and explore the dynamics of making and undoing growing and decomposition The book will be of broad interest to scholars in the fields of anthropology archaeology material culture studies history and sociology archival material and oral testimony collected during workshops in Nunavut between 1996 and 2008 Frédéric Laugrand and Jarich Oosten provide a nuanced look at Inuit religion offering a strong counter narrative to the idea that traditional Inuit culture declined post contact They show that setting up a dichotomy between a past identified with traditional culture and a present involving Christianity obscures the continuity and dynamics of Inuit society which has long borrowed and adapted outside elements They argue that both Shamanism and Christianity are continually changing in the Arctic and ideas of transformation and transition are necessary to understand both how the ideology of a hunting society shaped Inuit Christian cosmology and how Christianity changed Inuit shamanic traditions Arctic Clothing of North America-Alaska, Canada, Greenland J.C.H.
