Sinophone Malaysian Literature Alison M. Groppe, 2022 Sinophone Southeast Asia, 2021-09-06 This volume explores the diverse linguistic landscape of Southeast Asia's Chinese communities Based on archival research and previously unpublished linguistic fieldwork it unearths a wide variety of language histories linguistic practices and trajectories of words The localized and often marginalized voices we bring to the spotlight are quickly disappearing in the wake of standardization and homogenization yet they tell a story that is uniquely Southeast Asian in its rich hybridity Our comparative scope and focus on language analysed in tandem with history and culture adds a refreshing dimension to the broader field of Sino Southeast Asian Studies Transtopia in the Sinophone Pacific Howard Chiang, 2021-04-06 As a broad category of identity transgender has given life to a vibrant field of academic research since the 1990s Yet the Western origins of the field have tended to limit its cross cultural scope Howard Chiang proposes a new paradigm for doing transgender history in which geopolitics assumes central importance Defined as the antidote to transphobia transtopia challenges a minoritarian view of transgender experience and makes room for the variability of transness on a historical continuum Against the backdrop of the Sinophone Pacific Chiang argues that the concept of transgender identity must be rethought beyond a purely Western frame At the same time he challenges China centrism in the study of East Asian gender and sexual configurations Chiang brings Sinophone studies to bear on trans theory to deconstruct the ways in which sexual normativity and Chinese imperialism have been produced through one another Grounded in an eclectic range of sources from the archives of sexology to press reports of intersexuality films about castration and records of social activism this book reorients anti transphobic inquiry at the crossroads of area studies medical humanities and queer theory Timely and provocative Transtopia in the Sinophone Pacific highlights the urgency of interdisciplinary knowledge in debates over the promise and future of human diversity Sinophone Cinemas A. Cosmopolitanism in China, 1600-1950 Minghui Hu , Johan Elverskog, 2016-01-28 At the height of the Cultural Revolution and the Cold War in 1971 the historian Joseph Levenson made the astute observation that China used to be cosmopolitan on account of Confucianism At that time the notion of China much less Confucianism as somehow being cosmopolitan may have surprised many of his readers especially because so many conventional ideas about China ranging from its kith and kin social structure to its purportedly eternal and monolithic state structure seem to reflect a society that was the very antithesis of cosmopolitanism Indeed even now or perhaps even more so now on account of growing Chinese nationalism Han chauvinism and global fears of a rising China the idea of Chinese cosmopolitanism may strike many as ill conceived Levenson as with so much of his scholarship was clearly on to something important In fact in the current academic climate it seems almost irresponsible not to address this This book is therefore a much needed pioneering attempt to explore the implications and possibilities of Levenson s potent observation regarding China in relation to the growing scholarship on cosmopolitanism around the world It is an important intervention in both the current scholarship on modern China and the scholarship on cosmopolitanism in its global articulations
