Green Is the New Red Will Potter, 2011-04-12 At a time when everyone is going green most people are unaware that the FBI is using anti terrorism resources to target environmentalists and animal rights activists The courts are being used to push conventional boundaries of what constitutes terrorism and to hit nonviolent activists with disproportionate sentences Some have faced terrorism charges for simply chalking slogans on the sidewalk Like the Red Scare this Green Scare is about fear and intimidation using a word eco terrorist to push a political agenda instill fear and silence dissent The animal rights and environmental movements directly threaten corporate profits every time activists encourage people to go vegan to stop driving to consume fewer resources and live simply Their boycotts are damaging and corporations and the politicians who represent them know it In many ways the Green Scare like the Red Scare can be seen as a culture war a war of values Will Potter outlines the political legal extra legal and public relations strategies that are being used to threaten even acts of nonviolent civil disobedience with the label of terrorism Here is a guided tour into the world of radical activism that introduces the real people behind the headlines and tells the story of how everyday people are being prevented from speaking up for what they believe in Potter a contributor to The Next Eco Warriors warns that the U S government is using post 9 11 anti terrorism resources to target environmentalists and animal right activists in some cases for doing nothing but speaking up Potter warns of the crumbling of the legal wall separating terrorist from dissident or undesirable and concludes his account with a call to action and a decry of the injustice that results in the terrorist label being put on those who threaten American corporate interests Alarming Publishers Weekly In this hard hitting debut journalist Potter likens the Justice Department targeting of environmentalists today to McCarthyism in the 1950s A shocking expos of judicial overreach Kirkus Reviews Starred review Will Potter is an award winning reporter who has written for publications including the Chicago Tribune the Dallas Morning News and Legal Affairs and has testified before the U S Congress about his reporting He is the creator of www.GreenIsTheNewRed.com where he blogs about the Green Scare

Veganism Eva Haifa Giraud, 2021-06-17 What exactly do vegans believe Why has veganism become such a critical and criticized social movement and how does veganism correspond to wider debates about sustainability animal studies and the media Eva Haifa Giraud offers an accessible route into the debates that surround vegan politics which feed into broader issues surrounding food activism and social justice Giraud engages with arguments in favor of veganism as well as the criticisms levelled at vegan politics She interrogates debates and topics that are central to conversations around veganism including identity intersectional politics and activism with research drawn from literary animal studies animal geographies ecofeminism posthumanism critical race theory and new materialism Giraud makes an original theoretical intervention into these often fraught debates and argues that veganism holds radical political potential to act as more than a diet by disrupting commonplace norms and assumptions about how humans relate to animals Drawing on a range of examples from recipe books with punk aesthetics to social media campaigns Giraud shows how veganism's radical potential is being complicated by its commercialization and elucidates new conceptual frameworks for reclaiming veganism as a radical social movement

Afro-Dog Bénédicte Boisseron, 2018-08-14 The animal rights organization PETA asked Are Animals the New Slaves in a controversial 2005 fundraising campaign that same year after the Humane Society rescued pets in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina while black residents were neglected some declared that white America cares more about pets than black people These are but two recent examples of a centuries long history in which black life has been pitted against animal life Does comparing human and animal suffering trivialize black pain or might the intersections of racialization and animalization shed light on interlinked forms of oppression In Afro Dog Bénédicte Boisseron investigates the relationship between race and the animal in the history and culture of the Americas and the black Atlantic exposing a hegemonic system that compulsively links and opposes blackness and animality to measure the value of life She analyzes the association between black civil disobedience and canine repression a history that spans the era of slavery through the use of police dogs against protesters during the civil rights movement of the 1960s to today in places like Ferguson Missouri She also traces the lineage of blackness and the animal in Caribbean literature and struggles over minorities right to pet ownership alongside nuanced readings of Derrida and other French theorists Drawing on recent debates on black lives and animal welfare Afro Dog reframes the fast growing interest in human animal relationships by positioning blackness as a focus of animal inquiry opening new possibilities for animal studies and black studies to think side by side

Impersonating Animals S. Marek Muller, 2020-08-01 In 2011 in one sign of a burgeoning interest in the morality of human interactions with nonhuman animals a panel hosted by the American Association for the Advancement of Science declared that dolphins and orcas should be legally regarded as persons Multiple law schools now offer classes in animal law and have animal law clinics placing their students with a growing range of animal rights and animal welfare advocacy organizations But is legal personhood the best means to achieving total interspecies liberation To answer that question Impersonating Animals evaluates the rhetoric of animal rights activists Steven Wise and Gary Francione as well as the Earth jurisprudence paradigm Deploying a critical ecofeminist stance sensitive to the interweaving of ideas about race gender class sexuality ability and species author S Marek Muller places animal rights rhetoric in the context of discourses in which some humans have been deemed more animal than others and some animals have been deemed more human than others In bringing rhetoric and animal studies together she shows that how we communicate about nonhuman beings necessarily affects relationships across species boundaries and among people This book also highlights how animal studies scholars and activists can and should use ideological rhetorical criticism to investigate the implications of their tactics and strategies emphasizing a critical vegan rhetoric as the best means of achieving liberation for human and nonhuman animals alike Doing Nutrition Differently Allison

Hayes-Conroy, 2016-05-13 Hegemonic nutrition is produced and proliferated by a wide variety of social institutions such as mainstream nutrition science clinical nutrition as well as those less classically linked such as life science agro food companies the media family education religion and the law The collective result is an approach to and practice of nutrition that alleges not only one single clear cut and consented upon set of rules for healthy eating but also tacit criteria for determining individual fault usually some combination of lack of education motivation and unwillingness to comply Offering a collection of critical interdisciplinary replies and responses to the matter of hegemonic nutrition this book presents contributions from a wide variety of perspectives nutrition professionals and lay people academics and activists adults and youth indigenous Chicana o Latina o Environmentalist Feminist and more The critical commentary collectively asks for a different more attentive and more holistic practice of nutrition Most importantly this volume demonstrates how this new nutrition is actually already being performed in small ways across the American continent In doing so the volume empowers diverse knowledges histories and practices of nutrition that have been marginalized re casts the objectives of dietary intervention and most broadly attempts to revolutionize the way that nutrition is done Livestock Erin

McKenna, 2018-03-15 Most livestock in America currently live in cramped and unhealthy confinement have few stable social relationships with humans or others of their species and finish their lives by being transported and killed under stressful conditions In Livestock Erin McKenna allows us to see this situation and presents alternatives She interweaves stories from visits to farms interviews with producers and activists and other rich material about the current condition of livestock In addition she mixes her account with pragmatist and ecofeminist theorizing about animals drawing in particular on John Dewey s account of evolutionary history and provides substantial historical background about individual species and about human animal relations This deeply informative text reveals that the animals we commonly see as livestock have rich evolutionary histories species specific behaviors breed tendencies and individual variation just as those we respect in companion animals such as dogs cats and horses To restore a similar level of respect for livestock McKenna examines ways we can balance the needs of our livestock animals with the environmental and social impacts of raising them and she investigates new possibilities for human ways of being in relationships with animals This book thus offers us a picture of healthier more respectful relationships with livestock The Vegan Studies Project Laura Wright, 2015 Ranging widely across contemporary American society and culture Wright unpacks the loaded category of vegan identity Her specific focus is on the construction and depiction of the vegan body both male and female as a contested site manifest in contemporary works of literature popular cultural representations advertising and new media Taking Food Public Psyche Williams

Forson, Carole Counihan, 2013-09-13 The field of food studies has been growing rapidly over the last thirty years and has exploded since the turn of the millennium. Scholars from an array of disciplines have trained fresh theoretical and methodological approaches onto new dimensions of the human relationship to food. This anthology capitalizes on this particular cultural moment to bring to the fore recent scholarship that focuses on innovative ways people are recasting food in public spaces to challenge hegemonic practices and meanings. Organized into five interrelated sections on food production, consumption, performance, diasporas, and activism, articles aim to provide new perspectives on the changing meanings and uses of food in the twenty-first century.
