A National Strategy for the Elimination of Hepatitis B and C

National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Health and Medicine Division, Board on Population Health and Public Health Practice, Committee on a National Strategy for the Elimination of Hepatitis B and C, 2017-07-30 Hepatitis B and C cause most cases of hepatitis in the United States and the world. The two diseases account for about a million deaths a year and 78 percent of world's hepatocellular carcinoma and more than half of all fatal cirrhosis. In 2013, viral hepatitis of which hepatitis B virus (HBV) and hepatitis C virus (HCV) are the most common types surpassed HIV and AIDS to become the seventh leading cause of death worldwide. The world now has the tools to prevent hepatitis B and cure hepatitis C. Perfect vaccination could eradicate HBV but it would take two generations at least. In the meantime, there is no cure for the millions of people already infected. Conversely, there is no vaccine for HCV but new direct acting antivirals can cure 95 percent of chronic infections though these drugs are unlikely to reach all chronically infected people anytime soon. This report, the second of two, builds off the conclusions of the first report and outlines a strategy for hepatitis reduction over time and specific actions to achieve them.

Introduction to Cryptography with Java Applets

David Bishop, 2003 Networking Security Indoor Thermal Comfort Perception Kristian Fabbri, 2016-10-15 Providing a methodology for evaluating indoor thermal comfort with a focus on children, this book presents an in-depth examination of children's perceptions of comfort. Divided into two sections, it first presents a history of thermal comfort, the human body, and environmental parameters common to thermal comfort indexes and guidelines for creating questionnaires to assess children's perceptions of indoor thermal comfort. It then describes their understanding of the concepts of comfort and energy and the factors that influence that perception. In this context, it takes into account the psychological and pedagogical aspects of thermal comfort judgment as well as architectural and environmental characteristics and equips readers with the knowledge needed to effectively investigate children's perspectives on environmental ergonomics. The research field of indoor thermal comfort adopts on the one hand physical parameter measurements and comfort indexes (e.g., Predicted Mean Vote (PMV) or adaptive comfort) and on the other an ergonomic assessment in the form of questionnaires. However, the latter can offer only limited insights into the issue of comfort as children often use different terms than adults to convey their experience of thermal comfort. The book aims to address this lack of understanding with regard to children's perceptions of indoor thermal comfort. The book is intended for HVAC engineers and researchers, architects, and researchers interested in thermal comfort and the built environment. It also provides a useful resource for environmental psychologists, medical, and cognitive researchers.

Statistics for Management

Richard I. Levin, 2008-12 Statistics For Management is a textbook of business statistics that helps students grasp the fundamentals of the subject in a simple and easy manner.

Statistics For Management is a detailed textbook on the subject of business statistics. It seeks to dispel the seeming complexity of the subject by presenting the concepts in a lucid and visually demonstrative manner. The book begins with an overview of business statistics. Subsequent chapters cover topics like tables and graphs, probability, sampling, estimation, testing hypotheses, and quality and quality control. The last few chapters present concepts like chi square analysis of variance, simple regression and multiple regression, non parametric methods, time series and forecasting, and index numbers. The book ends with a chapter on decision theory. The concepts in the book are explained at length and illustrative explanations are given precedence over complex mathematical notations. Also, each discussion is accompanied by examples that demonstrate one or more real world applications of the concepts. All the hypothesis tests are conducted using the standardized scale. Every section ends with three types of exercises for practice: self-evaluative, basic, and application exercises. A very useful feature of the book is the Hints And Assumptions feature, which provides useful hints for solving the exercise problems and alerts the students about the commonly committed mistakes while solving them. Statistics For Management was published in 2011 by Pearson.
