A National Strategy for the Elimination of Hepatitis B and C National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Health and Medicine Division, Board on Population Health and Public Health Practice, Committee on a National Strategy for the Elimination of Hepatitis B and C, 2017-07-30 Hepatitis B and C cause most cases of hepatitis in the United States and the world. The two diseases account for about a million deaths a year and 78 percent of world's hepatocellular carcinoma and more than half of all fatal cirrhosis. In 2013, viral hepatitis of which hepatitis B virus (HBV) and hepatitis C virus (HCV) are the most common types surpassed HIV and AIDS to become the seventh leading cause of death worldwide. The world now has the tools to prevent hepatitis B and cure hepatitis C. Perfect vaccination could eradicate HBV but it would take two generations at least. In the meantime, there is no cure for the millions of people already infected. Conversely, there is no vaccine for HCV but new direct acting antivirals can cure 95 percent of chronic infections though these drugs are unlikely to reach all chronically infected people anytime soon. This report is the second of two builds off the conclusions of the first report and outlines a strategy for hepatitis reduction over time and specific actions to achieve them. Mountain Weather Research and Forecasting Fotini K. Chow, Stephan F.J. De Wekker, Bradley J. Snyder, 2012-08-30 This book provides readers with a broad understanding of the fundamental principles driving atmospheric flow over complex terrain and provides historical context for recent developments and future direction for researchers and forecasters. The topics in this book are expanded from those presented at the Mountain Weather Workshop which took place in Whistler, British Columbia, Canada, August 5-8, 2008. The inspiration for the workshop came from the American Meteorological Society AMS Mountain Meteorology Committee and was designed to bridge the gap between the research and forecasting communities by providing a forum for extended discussion and joint education. For academic researchers, this book provides some insight into issues important to the forecasting community. For the forecasting community, this book provides training on fundamentals of atmospheric processes over mountainous regions which are notoriously difficult to predict. The book also helps to provide a better understanding of current research and forecast challenges including the latest contributions and advancements to the field. The book begins with an overview of mountain weather and forecasting challenges specific to complex terrain followed by chapters that focus on diurnal mountain valley flows that develop under calm conditions and dynamically driven winds under strong forcing. The focus then shifts to other phenomena specific to mountain regions: Alpine foehn boundary layer and air quality issues, orographic precipitation processes and microphysics parameterizations. Having covered the major physical processes, the book shifts to observation and modelling techniques used in mountain regions including model configuration and parameterizations such as turbulence and model applications in operational forecasting. The book concludes with a discussion of the current state of research and forecasting in complex terrain including a vision of how to bridge the gap in the future. Switchgear Manual Hennig Gremmel, 2001 Materials Handbook John A.
