Klimt and Antiquity Stella Rolig, Tobias Günter Natter, 2017 Exploring an intriguing aspect of the artist's work, this book examines Gustav Klimt's fascination with the ancient world. Gustav Klimt's 1907 publication of his illustrated edition of Lucian's ancient work Dialogues of the Courtesans was the first time he exhibited his erotic art to the public, and it led to his denouncement by censors disturbed by the work's graphic content. This volume revives Klimt's masterful book, which pairs his erotic drawings with Wiener Werkstätte design and which arguably resulted in the Art Nouveau era's most beautiful book. Klimt and Antiquity also compares the red and black figure Attic vases dating from the 5th century with Klimt's art. It presents Klimt's antiquity-inspired art as a dialogue between contemporary and ancient art, between genders, and between women's roles in times of antiquity and modernity. Essays explore Klimt's interest in ancient art, the ancient role of the courtesan, and the phenomenon of the Greek symposium as fertile ground for Greek art.

Cabin at Singing River Chris Czajkowski, 2002-02-18 This is a bestselling account of one woman's journey into remote British Columbia, where she cleared a piece of land and built her own home. Illuminated by the author's own drawings, Cabin at Singing River is an inspiring book, realistic about how beauty can only be appreciated with hard work. The dream of shedding urban responsibilities and returning to nature is universal, and this book will inspire anyone interested in her experience.

Humean Libertarianism Marius Backmann, 2013-05-02 What does it mean for an agent to be free? Is determinism true? What are laws of nature? This book deals with the interconnections between these questions. Backmann argues for the view that libertarianism can be reconciled with determinism. In order to reach this goal, libertarianism classically defined as an incompatibilist theory of free will is defined as the thesis that at the time of decision, the agent must be able to choose between alternative courses of action. Backmann claims that this notion of libertarianism can be reconciled with determinism provided that determinism is understood in a Humean fashion, i.e., backed by a Humean theory of laws of nature. The resulting view, Humean Libertarianism, is an intermediate position between classical compatibilism and incompatibilism.

Proof Theory Herman Ruge Jervell,2012 In proof theory we investigate the objects used for computations and arguments in computer science and mathematics Our starting point is the classical analysis given by Gerhard Gentzen in the 1930s We develop this further using a new theory of ordinal notation and connecting this with combinatorics on finite trees

Modal Logic Herman Ruge Jervell,2013-01-16 In modal logic we discuss multiple perspectives on truth perspectives as given by time by provability by knowledge by agents or by processes We develop the theory of modal logic and emphasize the connections with and applications within computer science and mathematics Among other things we develop Kurt Godels incompleteness theorem and show memoryless determinacy of infinite games on finite arenas
