Ethics for the Information Age Michael Jay Quinn, 2005 Ethics for the Information Age offers students a timely balanced and impartial treatment of computer ethics By including an introduction to ethical theories and material on the history of computing the text addresses all the topics of the Social and Professional Issues in the 2001 Model Curricula for Computing developed by the ACM and IEEE Computer Society By introducing ethical theories early and using them throughout the book to evaluate moral problems related to information technology the book helps students develop the ability to reach conclusions and defend them in front of an audience Every issue is studied from the point of view of multiple ethical theories in order to provide a balanced analysis of relevant issues Earlier chapters focus on issues concerned with the individual computer user including email spam intellectual property open source movement and free speech and Web censorship Later chapters focus on issues with greater impact on society as a whole such as privacy computer and network security and computer error The final chapter discusses professionalism and the Software Engineering Code of Ethics It invites students to contemplate the ethical dimensions of decisions computer professionals must frequently make The Photomontages of Hannah Höch Hannah Höch, Peter W. Boswell, Maria Martha Makela, Carolyn Lanchner, Kristin Makholm, 1996 Here in the first comprehensive survey of her work by an American museum authors Peter Boswell Maria Makela and Carolyn Lanchner survey the full scope of Höch's half century of experimentation in photomontage from her politically charged early works and intimate psychological portraits of the Weimar era to her later forays into surrealism and abstraction Made to Break Giles Slade, 2009-06-30 Made to Break is a history of twentieth century technology as seen through the prism of obsolescence Giles Slade explains how disposability was a necessary condition for America's rejection of tradition and our acceptance of change and impermanence This book gives us a detailed and harrowing picture of how by choosing to support ever shorter product lives we may well be shortening the future of our way of life as well The Second Sex Simone de Beauvoir, 1997 Of all the writing that emerged from the existentialist movement Simone de Beauvoir's groundbreaking study of women will probably have the most extensive and enduring impact It is at once a work of anthropology and sociology of biology and psychoanalysis from the pen of a writer and novelist of penetrating imaginative power THE SECOND SEX stands five decades after its first appearance as the first landmark in the modern feminist upsurge that has transformed perceptions of the social relationship of man and womankind in our time Women and the Colonial State Elsbeth Locher-Scholten, 2000 Woman and the Colonial State deals with the ambiguous relationship between women of both the European and the Indonesian population and the colonial state in the former Netherlands Indies in the first half of the twentieth century Based on new data from a variety of sources colonial archives journals household manuals children's literature and press surveys it analyses the women state relationship by presenting five empirical studies on subjects in which women figured prominently at the time Indonesian labour Indonesian servants in colonial homes Dutch colonial fashion and food the feminist struggle for the vote and the intense debate about monogamy of and by women at the end of the 1930s An introductory essay combines the outcomes of the case studies and relates those to debates about Orientalism the construction of whiteness and to questions of modernity and the colonial state formation

The Optical Unconscious Rosalind E. Krauss, 1994-07-25 The Optical Unconscious is a pointed protest against the official story of modernism and against the critical tradition that attempted to define modern art according to certain sacred commandments and self fulfilling truths The account of modernism presented here challenges the vaunted principle of vision itself And it is a very different story than we have ever read not only because its insurgent plot and characters rise from below the calm surface of the known and law like field of modernist painting but because the voice is unlike anything we have heard before Just as the artists of the optical unconscious assaulted the idea of autonomy and visual mastery Rosalind Krauss abandons the historian s voice of objective detachment and forges a new style of writing in this book art history that insinuates diary and art theory and that has the gait and tone of fiction The Optical Unconscious will be deeply vexing to modernism s standard bearers and to readers who have accepted the foundational principles on which their aesthetic is based Krauss also gives us the story that Alfred Barr Meyer Shapiro and Clement Greenberg repressed the story of a small disparate group of artists who defied modernism s most cherished self descriptions giving rise to an unruly disruptive force that persistently haunted the field of modernism from the 1920s to the 1950s and continues to disrupt it today In order to understand why modernism had to repress the optical unconscious Krauss eavesdrops on Roger Fry in the salons of Bloomsbury and spies on the toddler John Ruskin as he amuses himself with the patterns of a rug we find her in the living room of Clement Greenberg as he complains about smart Jewish girls with their typewriters in the 1960s and in colloquy with Michael Fried about Frank Stella s love of baseball Along the way there are also narrative encounters with Freud Jacques Lacan Georges Bataille Roger Caillois Gilles Deleuze and Jean Fran ois Lyotard To embody this optical unconscious Krauss turns to the pages of Max Ernst s collage novels to Marcel Duchamp s hypnotic Rotoreliefs to Eva Hesse s luminous sculptures and to Cy Twombly s Andy Warhol s and Robert Morris s scandalous decoding of Jackson Pollock s drip pictures as Anti Form These artists introduced a new set of values into the field of twentieth century art offering ready made images of obsessional fantasy in place of modernism s intentionality and unexamined compulsions
