The Right to Have Rights Stephanie DeGooyer, Alastair Hunt, Lida Maxwell, Samuel Moyn, 2018-02-13 Five leading thinkers on the concept of rights in an era of rightlessness Sixty years ago the political theorist Hannah Arendt an exiled Jew deprived of her German citizenship observed that before people can enjoy any of the inalienable Rights of Man before there can be any specific rights to education work voting and so on there must first be such a thing as the right to have rights The concept received little attention at the time but in our age of mass deportations Muslim bans refugee crises and extra state war the phrase has become the center of a crucial and lively debate Here five leading thinkers from varied disciplines including history law politics and literary studies discuss the critical basis of rights and the meaning of radical democratic politics today

Regimes of Mobility Noel Salazar, Nina Glick Schiller, 2016-08-25 Mobility studies emerged from a postmodern moment in which global flows of capital people and objects were increasingly noted and celebrated Within this new scholarship categories of migrancy are all seen through the same analytical lens This book builds on as well as critiques past and present studies of mobility In so doing it challenges conceptual orientations built on binaries of difference that have impeded analyses of the interrelationship between mobility and stasis These include methodological nationalism which counterpoises concepts of internal and international movement and native and foreigner and consequently normalises stasis Instead the book proposes a regimes of mobility framework that addresses the relationships between mobility and immobility localisation and transnational connection experiences and imaginaries of migration and rootedness and cosmopolitan openness Within this framework and its emphasis on social fields of differential power the various contributors to this collection ethnographically explore the disparities inequalities racialised representations and national mythscapes that facilitate and legitimate differential mobility and fixity Although they examine nation state building processes the anthropological analysis is not confined by national boundaries This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies

"Poor Green Erin" Eoin Bourke, 2013 The area of 19th century German travel writing on Ireland has received widespread scholarly attention over the years in treatises in both English and German This book is conceived of more as a reader for the general public than as an academic treatise presents a surprisingly extensive body of comments drawn from German and Austrian sources from between 1783 and 1865

Spatial Justice Andreas Philippopoulos-Mihalopoulos, 2014-10-30 There can be no justice that is not spatial Against a recent tendency to despatialise law matter bodies and even space itself this book insists on spatialising them arguing that there can be neither law nor justice that are not articulated through and in space Spatial Justice presents a new theory and a radical application of the material connection between space in the geographical as well as sociological and philosophical sense and the law in the broadest sense that includes written and oral law but also embodied social and political norms More specifically it argues that spatial justice is the struggle of various bodies human natural non organic technological to occupy a certain space at a certain time Seen in this way spatial justice is the most radical offspring of the spatial turn since as this book demonstrates spatial justice can be found in the core of most contemporary legal and political issues issues such as geopolitical conflicts environmental issues animality colonisation droning the cyberspace and so on In order to argue this the book employs the lawscape as the tautology between law and space and the concept of atmosphere in its geological political aesthetic legal and biological dimension Written by a leading theorist in the area Spatial Justice Body Lawscape Atmosphere forges a new interdisciplinary understanding of space and law while offering a fresh approach to current geopolitical spatiolegal and ecological issues

Urban Interstices: The Aesthetics and the Politics of the In-between Dr Andrea Mubi Brighenti, 2013-12-28 Bringing together a team of international scholars with an interest in urban transformations spatial justice and territoriality this volume questions how the interstice is related to the emerging processes of partitioning enclave making and zoning showing how in between spaces are intimately related to larger flows networks territories and boundaries Illustrated with a range of case studies from places such as the US Quebec the UK Italy Gaza Iraq India and South east Asia the volume analyses the place and function of interstitial locales in both a disciplined urban space and a disordered space conceptualized through the notions of excess danger and threat Warning not to romanticize the interstice the book invites us to study it as not simply a place but also a set of phenomena events and social interactions How are interstices perceived and represented What is the politics of visibility that is applied to them How to capture their peculiar rhythms speeds and affects On the one hand interstices open up venues for informality improvisation challenge and bricolage playful as well as angry statements on the neoliberal city and enhanced urban inequalities On the other hand they also represent a crucial site of governance even governance by withdrawal and urban management where an array of techniques ranging from military urbanism to new forms of value extraction are experimented At the point of convergence of all these tensions interstices appear as veritable sites of transformation where social forces clash and mesh prefiguring our urban future The book interrogates these territories proposing new ways to explore the dynamics events and visibilities that define them

A Democratic Theory of Judgment Linda M.G. Zerilli, 2016-12-12 In this sweeping look at political and philosophical history Linda M G Zerilli unpacks the tightly woven core of Hannah Arendt's unfinished work on a tenacious modern problem how to judge critically in the wake of the collapse of inherited criteria of judgment Engaging a remarkable breadth of thinkers including Ludwig Wittgenstein Leo Strauss Immanuel Kant Frederick Douglass John Rawls Jürgen Habermas Martha Nussbaum and many others Zerilli clears a hopeful path between an untenable universalism and a cultural relativism that forever defers the possibility of judging at all Zerilli deftly outlines the limitations of existing debates both those that concern themselves with the impossibility of judging across cultures and those that try to find transcendental rational values to anchor judgment Looking at Kant through the lens of Arendt Zerilli develops the notion of a public conception of truth and from there she explores relativism historicism and universalism as they shape feminist approaches to judgment Following

Arendt even further Zerilli arrives at a hopeful new pathway seeing the collapse of philosophical criteria for judgment not as a problem but a way to practice judgment anew as a world building activity of democratic citizens The result is an astonishing theoretical argument that travels through and goes beyond some of the most important political thought of the modern period Children of the Holocaust: Conversations with Sons and Daughters of Survivors Helen

Medieval German Literature Albrecht Classen,2015-06-03 By pursuing an ecocritical reading The Forest in Medieval German Literature examines passages in medieval German texts where protagonists operated in the forest and found themselves either in conflictual situations or in refuge By probing the way the individual authors dealt with the forest illustrating how their characters fared in this sylvan space the role of the forest proved to be of supreme importance in understanding the fundamental relationship between humans and nature The medieval forest almost always introduced an epistemological challenge how to cope in life or how to find one s way in this natural maze By approaching these narratives through modern ecocritical issues that are paired with premodern perspectives we gain a solid and far reaching understanding of how medieval concepts can aid in a better understanding of human society and nature in its historical context This book revisits some of the best and lesser known examples of medieval German literature and the critical approach used here will allow us to recognize the importance of medieval literature for a profound reassessment of our modern existence with respect to our own forests German Code of Criminal Procedure ANONIMO,1965-12 Goes beyond a mere literal translation of the code of criminal procedure by supplying the reader with relevant provisions of the German Constitution and from the Court of Organization Law In addition numerous comments to individual sections have been added by the translator The Hero's Place Molly Robinson Kelly,2009-09-28 A fresh approach to three masterpieces of Old French literature Renewing the Republic Michael D. Higgins,2012 Renewing the Republic is the latest offering from Irish President social commentator author poet and politician Michael D Higgins The Medieval Chastity Belt A.

Classen,2007-03-19 The chastity belt is one of those objects people have commonly identified with the dark Middle Ages This book analyzes the origin of this myth and demonstrates how a convenient misconception or contorted imagination of an allegedly historical practice has led to profoundly flawed interpretations of control mechanisms used by jealous husbands

Luise Gottsched the Translator Hilary Brown,2012 By focusing on Luise Gottsched s extraordinary volume and range of translations Hilary Brown sheds an entirely new light on Gottsched and her oeuvre Critics have paid increasing attention to the oeuvre of Luise Gottsched 1713 62 Germany s first prominent woman of letters but have neglected her lifelong work of translation which encompassed over fifty volumes and an extraordinary range from drama and poetry to philosophy history archaeology even theoretical physics This first comprehensive overview of Gottsched s translations places them in the context of eighteenth century intellectual literary and cultural history showing that they were part of an ambitious progressive program undertaken with her famous husband to shape German culture during the Enlightenment In doing so it casts Gottsched and her work in an entirely new light Including chapters on all the main subject areas and genres from which Gottsched translated it also explores the relationship between her translations and her original works demonstrating that translation was central to her oeuvre A bibliography of Gottsched s translations and source texts concludes the volume Not only a major new addition to a growing body of research on the Gottscheds the book will also be valuable reading for scholars interested more broadly in women s writing the history of translation and the literature and culture of the German and European Enlightenment Hilary Brown is Lecturer at the University of Birmingham UK

Magical Treasure Hunting in Europe and North America Johannes Dillinger,Palgrave Connect (Online Service).,2011 In this the first comprehensive history of magical treasure hunting Johannes Dillinger a leading expert on the history of folk belief brings together a huge variety of British European and American source materials They range from medieval epics and the records of early modern witch trials to legends from the Wild West SS files and out websites The study reconstructs a magical universe of treasure guarding angels fairies and ghosts of wizards who were willing to face demons in order to get rich quickly of resourceful tricksters exploiting creed and stupidity and of ever watchful but often credulous and profit seeking authorities Looking over a long time period from the Middle Ages to the twentieth century Dillinger not only reveals a rich and enduring magical culture but also the influence of new concepts of history and of the past Combining history and anthropology the study suggests an encompassing interpretation of treasure hunting that embeds the magic of the treasure in the changes of economic culture
