David Coffin's blog is all about making trousers and specifically designed for the readers of this book.

Fashion Illustration for Designers Kathryn Hagen, 2017-05-03 Fashion design begins in the designer's creative mind and drawing is the crucial next step to communicating creative ideas to others to bring those ideas to reality. Clear expressive drawings engage and bring together people in patternmaking, production, marketing and all other facets of the fashion business, ensuring that everyone shares the same vision that originates with the designer. Kathryn Hagen brings decades of experience teaching design students how best to translate their ideas into drawings. She opens with basic drawing skills using both hand tools and computer techniques before moving on to applying those skills to both the human figure and the specifics of various types of clothing. Throughout the book she exposes designers to myriad techniques and styles, encouraging each individual to discover what works best for him or her. Each chapter ends with practice exercises as well as visual references to review and reinforce material learned in the chapter lessons. Videos demonstrating hands-on examples can be viewed at waveland.com. Hagen with emphasis on distressed fabrics and novelty treatments. 84 pages of color present a wide variety of rendering techniques.

BloomsburyFashionCentral.com Feminism and the Body Londa Schiebinger, 2000-06-22 This collection of classic essays in feminist body studies investigates the history of the image of the female body from the medical discovery of the clitoris to the body politic of Queen Elizabeth I to women deprecated as Hottentot Venuses in the nineteenth century. The text looks at the way in which coverings bear cultural meaning: clothing reform during the French Revolution, Islamic veiling and the invention of the top hat as well as the embodiment of cherished cultural values in social icons such as the Statue of Liberty or the Barbie doll. By considering culture as it defines not only women but also men, this volume offers both the student and the general reader an insight into the interdisciplinary and cross-cultural study involved in feminist body studies. The Road to Catoctin Mountain Robert J. Gerard, 2006-02-08 Robert Gerard's life story involves a fascinating journey full of twists, turns, and unexpected events. With no specific career plan in place, things just happened, mostly good things. Along the way, over time, people, events, and places seemed to re-emerge in an intriguing way. Gerard was born in New York City in 1930. He and his mother and father lived on the west side near Central Park. He didn't know until many years later that his father was an alien who had entered the United States illegally and changed his name. When Robert was just two years old, the FBI came knocking at the apartment off Central Park West. However, they were not looking for illegal aliens. They were looking for the Lindbergh baby. Later, the family moved to West Orange, New Jersey, a small town where it seemed that nearly everyone was employed by Thomas A. Edison Inc. Gerard's story captures the lean years of the 1930s prior to World War II, some problems at home, and his escapades as a teenager during the war years, including two years of tough discipline at a private boarding school in North Jersey. It was during this period that his father was deported to Belgium from Ellis Island. After graduating from high school, Gerard joined the ranks of those who worked at one of the Edison factories in West Orange. Two older workers, combat veterans from WWII, became his mentors. During the early phases of the Korean War, they shared fascinating stories about their wartime experiences. Bored by factory work and inspired by his two local heroes, Gerard enlisted in the army in 1951. As a result of some very poor training, Gerard and a good friend decided to apply for admission to Officer Candidate School. Ironically, Robert Gerard, the reluctant applicant, was accepted while his buddy was rejected. After his commissioning, his experience in Korea prompted him to remain in the army. While stationed with the 82d Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, he married a high school classmate in 1954. Together, they had eight children. Gerard describes his assignment as a weapons instructor at Fort Benning, Georgia, and then his experience as a student in the Army's flight school at Fort

Rucker Alabama An opportunity to complete his undergraduate education took him and his family to Mississippi Southern College in Hattiesburg Mississippi during the same year that James Meredith became the first black student to be admitted to the University of Mississippi Gerards subsequent assignment at the armys Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth Kansas 1963 1964 was a year filled with major events including President Kennedys assassination the increasing commitment to military support for South Vietnam and an address by former President Harry Truman Next a wonderful assignment in Verona Italy where his family lived in a small Italian village was cut short due to critical needs for army helicopter pilots in Vietnam He describes his first tour in Vietnam including the buildup of U S conventional forces and the application of air mobility as a part of tactical operations Also he had an opportunity to see his brother whose base camp was just several miles away After returning to the States he worked in the Pentagon and described both the serious and hilarious events related to surviving in The Puzzle Palace In 1970 his second tour in Vietnam placed him much farther north near the Demilitarized Zone where enemy forces consist mostly of North Vietnamese regulars His description of military operations in Vietnam reflects both the early years as well as the beginning of the drawdown of U S forces After an interesting year of study at Monmouth College Gerard attended the U S Army War College at Carlisle Barracks Pennsylvania just a few miles south of Indiantown Gap where he took his basic training His experien The Boys' Outfitter ,1920
