Byblos in the Late Bronze Age Marwan Kilani, 2019-10-07 In Byblos in the Late Bronze Age Marwan Kilani reconstructs the biography of the city of Byblos during the Late Bronze Age Commonly described simply as a centre for the trade of wood the city appears here as a dynamic actor involved in multiple aspects of the regional geopolitical reality By combining the information provided by written sources and by a fresh reanalysis of the archaeological evidence the author explores the development of the city during the Late Bronze Age showing how the evolution of a wide range of geopolitical economic and ideological factors resulted in periods of prosperity and decline The Studies in the Archaeology and History of the Levant series publishes volumes from the Harvard Museum of the Ancient Near East Other series offered by Brill that publish volumes from the Museum include Harvard Semitic Studies and Harvard Semitic Monographs <https://hmane.harvard.edu/publications>

Sonic Interventions Sylvia Mieszkowski, Joy Smith, Marijke de Valck, 2007 Sonic Interventions makes a compelling case for the importance of sound in theorizing literature subjectivity and culture Sound is usually understood as our second sense and as our belief in a visually dominated culture prevails remains of secondary interest Western cultures are considered to be predominantly visual while other societies are thought to place more importance on the acoustic dimension This volume questions these assumptions by examining how sound differs from and acts in relationship to the visual It moves beyond theoretical dichotomies between the visual and the sonic the oral and literature and instead investigates sonic interventions in their often multi faceted forms The case studies deal with political appropriations of music and sounds they explore the poetic use of the sonic in novels and plays they develop theoretical concepts out of sonic phenomena and pertain to identity formation and the practice of mixing in hip hop opera and dancehall sessions Ultimately the book brings to the fore what roles sound may play for the formation of gendered identity for the stabilization or questioning of race as a social category and the conception of place Their intricate interventions beckon critical attention and offer rich material for cultural analysis

The General Stud-book, 1840 Constructionism Idit Harel, Seymour Papert, 1991-01-01 In 1985 the Media Lab was created at MIT to advance the idea that computation would give rise to a new science of expressive media. Within the media lab, the Epistemology and Learning group extends the traditional definition of media by treating as expressive media materials with which children play and learn. The Group's work follows a paradigm for learning research called Constructionism. Several of the chapters directly address the theoretical formulation of Constructionism and others describe experimental studies which enrich and confirm different aspects of the idea. Thus this volume can be taken as the most extensive and definitive statement to date of this approach to media and education research and practice. This book is structured around four major themes: learning through designing and programming; epistemological styles in constructionist learning; children and cybernetics; and video as a research tool for exploring and documenting constructionist environments.
